“ I met Jarrad in 7th grade :) I didn't know it then, but he would become a close friend as an adult after marrying, Eric. He knows the real us and he is a true friend. I am so thankful for their friendship. He would be the only person I could ever roommate with. We love him so much. To me, he was the kind of person who could make anyone feel comfortable, and he was so easy to talk to. We will miss you, brother. You are forever in our hearts. Thank you for sharing your light and love with us. I will carry you in my heart, and be a bolder, better person for knowing you.

“ My dear friend is a gift the universe provided me over the years bringing positive energy, love, and light into my life that I am forever thankful for. At a young age we connected with one of our mutual friends Matt Sanders that was a force of energy in our lives. Over the years we had numerous adventures together as young kids getting through the summers and school always trying to have fun and elude trouble. Once we were older out on our own we continued to seek fun and live life to the fullest by moving away from home jumping into the aviation industry to travel the world and find our own path. Having a brother that shared the adventure bug to explore the world, love art in all forms, a taste for great food and could connect with others is something special that I always loved and will leave a void in my heart. There are so many funny and wonderful experiences we were able to share over the years it's hard to think of them all and when I do they are just gifts of love that he was able to give. I'm so grateful to his family for being so kind and loving over the years with us knuckleheads. I love y'all and all the people that held him close to their hearts they know how special he is and I hope we all keep his bright spirits alive with wonderful memories and love.

“ I want to give a hug to the Anderson family who, despite not knowing them today, make me part of this duel. Jarrad, thank you for all these years of friendship. I will remember you as a great friend who made me come back. He loved my country of Costa Rica and wanted to stay. Thank you Jarrad, you will always be in my heart for the great human being you were. Someday I will return to you. Let's see why the one who leaves doesn't die but the one who forgets I love you so much my beautiful eyes fly high☐
